ABSTRACT: Starting of the concept of production’s situation proposed by the Socio-Discursive Interactionism – ISD -, that has been reformulated by Bronckart (1997, 2004a, 2004b, 2005, 2006), we aim to make some hypothesis about the representations mobilized by the interlocutors during the interview of simple self-confrontation – ACS - (CLOT, 2006 e FAÏTA, 2005), in order to propose our reading about the roles assumed by he interlocutors, in the frame analysis of the ISD.

KEYWORDS: production’s situation; roles; simple self-confrontation.
